Business Card Reader - PCCharge Pro uses VISA, MasterCard, and Discover as the method of accepting credit, debit, and checks. It features an advanced card reader that can handle any size card inserted into the reader. The software supports the most popular cards in use today. Embedded AVS (Address Verification System) - This feature, similar to an address verification system, is included so that your customers do not need to provide their card information upon purchase. Handwritten Checks - Even if the customer has hand written their card information, PCCharge Pro will still read their card information for them and process the transaction. Dynamic Address Lookup - It is a feature for all of the cards that PCCharge Pro accepts. It provides the user with the ability to store a standard address format on the card itself. The software will automatically look up the customer's address and set the user's address on the correct form as well. Billing History - PCCharge Pro keeps billing statements for each and every transaction. If the customer closes his or her account, billing statements can be used to verify all transactions to date. Generate Reports - Design your own reports that you want to see, all of them can be exported to Excel for you to use it in any manner you want. Advanced Transactions - If a customer's card is declined, failed, or if a transaction is not completed, the software can program the transaction back to a new card. Auto-Crop Card Number - PCCharge Pro automatically crops the customer's card number if necessary Cut & Paste in Value Field - This is an advanced function that allows a customer to automatically cut and paste the card's value field into the value field of the transaction form You must understand that there are two types of 'Card Readers' out there: - 1. Card Readers that use keyboards to type in card numbers from cards that are inserted into them. They work GREAT for one use only and are NOT standalone Card Readers. 2. Card Readers that are completely standalone. These allow you to enter a single or multiple card numbers per transaction into the software. They are VERY EASY to use, and are VERY cheap. Card Readers that are standalone have all kinds of problems, a few of them are that the multiple card numbers entered are sometimes not in the correct sequence. That means, you can have card #1 in C2, card #2 in C3, card #3 in C4, card #4 in C5, etc 09e8f5149f
